

MOÑOPOLY

¡Hola chicos!

I hope you are all looking after yourselves and your families.

Below, you will find a game which you can make/play over a week. The instructions are on this page. Read them carefully!

You will need:

A pen and, if possible, some crayons/colours

Access to the internet (on a computer or another device)

A dice (if you can't find one, google 'online dice')

If possible, a printer – this will work best printed out

You will learn:

- To independently research a Spanish-speaking country of your choice
- To present information clearly and concisely
- To produce a fact-file about that country for other people

How to play (1):

- Choose any Spanish-speaking country on the planet. If you are unsure which countries speak Spanish, there are plenty of lists on google.
- Your job is to use the board below to research that country, finding out as much information as possible.
- You will need to use a variety of sites to find your information.

How to play (2):

- Start on the square that says 'go' – you earn 50 €. Keep a note of your money as you play the game.
- Roll the dice. When you land on a square, complete it with the information about that square. When you complete it, you earn more money.
- The different coloured squares are worth different amounts – you can see them here.
- Keep a note of your total money each day in the box below.
- When you have finished, add up your total score and then fill in the 'drawing' squares
